Watches for eccentrics: 'KUDOKE ExCentro'

This new model range of KUDOKE owes its name to the Latin phrase 'ex centro' which means 'out of the middle'. The eccentrically displaced self winding movement ETA 2824 is held in the 42 mm case by an handskeletonized and -engraved ring. On the back a decorated movement with rose gold plated rotor is revealed through sapphire crystal.

Even if the concept stays the same, the appearance of the different models of this range varies. Whether an elaborate skeletonized pattern with decorative engravings or a decent ring – the ExCentro range caters for all tastes.

With this new range KUDOKE remains true to his philosophy of manufacturing unique, exceptional watches.

KUDOKE – Time for Individuality.
